

The Best Song Ever Written

Well, the best song ever written
Is the one that I just wrote
The words bring teardrops to my eyes
And I just love every note
I'm sending it to all my friends
I know that they'll agree
It's the best song ever written
By anybody—not just me.
 It's got a catchy melody
 With a killer hook and twist
 And once it gets inside your head
 It's futile to resist
It's got a beat that just won't quit
A groove that's so much fun
It's the best song ever written
By me or anyone.

 It's the best song ever written
 It cuts through you like a knife
 You'll never see things quite the same
 It may just change your life—
It's a song with everything it needs
To be a mega hit
The hook! The tune! The beat! The vibe!
I wish this song was it—
The hook! The tune! The beat! The vibe!
God knows, this song ain't it.
