

All Right

Darlin', I have been all right

Since you went away

All I do is cry all night

Then I cry all day—

I find it easy to be strong

And not to think of you

Except each day, the whole day long

And the whole night through.

I laugh and joke and wear a grin

And I don't feel the pain

Unless of course I'm breathing in

And breathing out again—

I never give myself away

By letting teardrops start

Except each moment of each day

Since you broke my heart.

I never feel my poor heart ache

I don't break down and weep

Except when I am wide awake

And when I'm not asleep—

You found it easy to forget

The love we had—but still

My heart is true, I love you yet

And I always will.
